36TH ANNUAL REGIONAL LANGUAGE ARTS CONFERENCE

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

The committee of the University of Guam's 36th Annual Regional Language Arts Conference (LAC) invite educators, administrators, and the community to attend and present at the Language Arts Conference which will be held in-person on October 27, 2023 and October 28, 2023.

The 35th LAC conference, theme of "Recharting Known Shores of Literacy" has set us on a journey of looking at the ways that existing spaces of literacy have had to reinvent itself to accommodate emerging challenges. In the past conference, we were primarily focused on identifying the challenges and then identifying ways to overcome them. In the new leg of our journey, the 36th Annual Regional Language Arts Conference theme of The New Age Classroom: Adapting Our Pedagogy to the Needs of Today not only invites a continued reflection of the ways we have been forced to reimagine, but it also asks us, educators and learners, to revisit our visions of what literacy spaces should be and achieve.

We are hoping this 36th year's theme of The New Age Classroom: Adapting Our Pedagogy to the Needs of Today prompts conversations that invite us to look at what we know and what we have done to inform a need to better our ways and approaches. We hope that this conference offers reflections of the existing history of what was imagined, what has been achieved, and what can be further imagined.
